Harness the Power

Harness the Power of Multiple Systems in ONE Software Solution with Q360, Including Accounting

A single accurate database and real-time information tailored to meet the needs of daily business operations. From prospect to client billing.

Q360™ is a Business Process Management (BPM) tool that does accounting — Not an accounting tool that tries to support and manage a business.

If you use business management software that is not project based and incorporates project accounting, you escalate your administrative costs. Information isn't shared and it isn't easily accessible therefore it slows down employees and impacts their work as well as the project's profitability. Just recording transactions only allows a historical view of the transaction.

When you streamline time-consuming complex financial processes into a centralized business process, you can:

- Immediately identify which projects are generating or consuming cash

- Create visibility into discrepancies between actual and estimated expenses real time during the project not after

- Automate deferred revenue contracts and project cost based revenue recognition

- Tie project accounting and job costing to productivity tracking
